DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1, 2 and 4-6 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 2 and 4-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over McCombe et al US 2004/0199251 A1 in view of Lin US 6,325,827 B1.

McCombe et al discloses an intervertebral implant (20) comprising a body defined by a pair of upper (22) and lower (24) surfaces and a pair of side surfaces (36 & 30) and a withdrawal preventer comprising a plurality of linear claw portions (32 & 34). Finally, the body has a distance between the upper and lower surfaces at the front side of the intervertebral spacer is greater than a distance between the upper and lower surfaces at the rear side of the intervertebral spacer (see Fig. 3A).

Regarding the plurality of linear claws portions that continuously extend from one side surface of the body to the other side surface of the body, see Figures 3A-3C. disclosing the continuous claws extending from one side to the other side.

However, Lin does not disclose claws having asymmetric triangular shape with surfaces having different angles.

Lin ('827) teaches an implant comprising a plurality of asymmetrical claw portions having different angles for the purpose of facilitating the insertion of the implant and avoiding the expulsion of the implant when is already implanted (col. 5, lines 6-15).

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was to modify the claw portions of the McCombe et al with the claw portions of the Lin reference ('827) in order to facilitate the insertion of the implant and avoid the expulsion of the implant when is already implanted.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
